As members of the Orthodox faith began their celebration of Holy Week yesterday, the Rev. Jonah Milasevich, rector of the Holy Trinity Russian Orthodox church, blessed the pussy willows, used symbolically for palms, and distributed them to members of his congregation. Michael (left) and Daniel Kovaluk were the acolytes, while Sonia Cimbalista, kneeling, received the symbols of her faith from the Rev. Milasevich.

31 Injured as Coaches Plunge Down Embankment In Isolated Alabama Area

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 25 (AP)—At least two were killed and 31 injured early today when the Sun Chaser, Miami to Chicago passenger train, was derailed in an isolated area 17 miles north of here.

Engineer W. B. James, 53-year-old engineer of Haleyville, Ala., and Mrs. Emma Dahne, Chicago, were reported dead.

A spokesman for the Illinois Central railroad said the locomotive tender left the track two miles north of Adamsville, Ala., on a curve. The tender, a baggage car and three coaches plunged down a steep 100-foot embankment, he said.

EVERETT CADENHEAD, Negro porter, Chicago, said "It was like jumping off a high bridge." Miss Lillian Anderson, Chicago, who suffered leg injuries, said she just "flew right out a window."

Ambulances had to drive off the highway and travel two miles through a wooded section to get within 100 yards of the wreck. Details were meager because the train moved down communication lines which paralleled the right of way.

IC officials said in Chicago the last three cars of the 13-car train remained on the rails. They were returned to Birmingham and were to continue northward with the Seminole, another IC train.

Among the passengers were 23 baseball players from the Sheboygan, Wis., Indians and the Cairo, Ill., club of the Brooklyn Dodger training camp at Vero Beach, Fla. They aided in rescue efforts.

Truck's Cab Burns; Garage Is Saved

Fire started by a short circuit in the motor of a one and one-half ton truck burned off the entire cab of the vehicle Saturday morning, but firemen kept the frame and stucco garage in which the truck was parked from blazing.

The truck belongs to Harry C. Fox, of Seventh and Manatawny streets, and damage was estimated at at least $400. The loss was covered by insurance.

Both the Empire and Good Will Fire companies were called out at 6:40 a. m. Saturday and, using only booster streams, had the fire out in 15 minutes.

Palm Service Opens Orthodox Holy Week.

With the blessing of the "palms," Holy Trinity Russian Orthodox church yesterday marked the opening of Holy Week in the Orthodox faith.

The solemn ceremony took place at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning preceding the divine liturgy at the church. Pussy willows, symbolic of palms, were used.

As in other faiths, the Orthodox Church normally celebrates Easter on the first Sunday after the first Spring full moon, the Rev. Jonah Milasevich, pastor, explained. But this year because the Julian calendar which it uses is 13 days behind the Gregorian calendar used in the western faiths, it celebrates the Resurrection after the second full moon.

Under its laws, the Church cannot celebrate Easter earlier than March 21. The 13-day difference between the two calendars would have caused Easter to fall on March 15, he pointed out.

SERVICES WILL be held at the church at 7 o'clock at night on Great Thursday and Holy Friday. The Holy Friday services will be marked by a procession called the "plachantsa." In this procession, a picture of Jesus Christ in the grave is carried around the church three times by the congregation. A divine liturgy will be said.

Fire Extinguished; Owner Saves Home In Path of Flames

The home of Ray Henry, on Route 100 at Hallway House, was threatened with destruction Saturday morning by a fire that started in a cardboard box containing nothing but soiled clothes.

Because the blaze was discovered seconds before Henry was due to leave for work at Bertram's garage, West High street, he was able to confine it to the washhouse at the rear of the home. Damage was estimated at $75.

Mrs. Henry had started the kitchen range just before her husband came down to breakfast. When they noticed smoke drifting around the kitchen, they naturally blamed the stove.

BUT AS THE SMOKE increased, Henry got up and walked through the 8-by-14 foot washhouse adjoining the kitchen.

The cardboard box was blazing merrily. Flames seared the paint of the nearby wooden cupboard and had ignited mop and broom handles and a basket of wash in a chair in front of the radiator.

Henry raced to the pump with a pan and bucket, brought back the water needed to extinguish the flames, and threw the charred box and clothes outside.

Since the washhouse radiator was cold and there were no matches or cigarettes in the room, the Henrys believed that spontaneous combustion of greasy overalls in the box had caused the fire.

Mrs. Henry said she thought the entire house might have gone up in flames if her husband had left before the fire was discovered. "I never could have handled it myself," she explained.

KOBE, Japan, Monday, April 26 (AP)—American troops quelled a wild uprising by thousands of Koreans in this big seaport yesterday, and the U. S. commanders promised stern punishment of the leaders.

WAR POSSIBLE, BRADLEY WARNS

Army Chief of Staff Says Prospects Greater Now Than Three Months Ago

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—General Omar N. Bradley, chief of staff, has told the Senate armed services committee that the prospect of war is stronger now than it was three months ago.

In secret testimony given before the committee the past Wednesday, Bradley said:

"I think we would be neglecting our duty if we did not come up here and try to tell you that we are a little bit more afraid something will happen than we were three months ago when we were talking in terms of reserves."

Bradley also said "we are not so sure" that there is no war ahead right away.

TESTIMONY GIVEN at the hearing the past Wednesday was made public by the committee today, though it had been heavily scissored in spots.

But there was no doubt all the committee discussions had revolved around the idea that Russia might be our opponent if there is a next war.

Bradley was asked by Senator Gurney (R-SD), chairman of the committee if he was dropping his request for universal military training.

Bradley replied: "No, sir, because we must have a trained reserve unless we are going to be willing to fight a purely defensive war on this continent plus whatever air (forces) we can get over to England, maybe, or somebody else that is holding out for the time being."

"Unless we are willing to fight a defensive war, on this continent, you must have a reserve in being, and a trained reserve, or else you are going to sit here until you can build it up, train it and equip it, and in the meantime you may have lost all footholds from which you can attack Russia, because we know that we are all speaking about Russia."

FOLLOWING THE service, the blessing of the "pascha" will take place. Baskets of bread which are brought to the church are blessed in this ceremony.

Since many children cannot attend the three-hour midnight service, a special children's service will be held at 10:30 o'clock Easter morning. There also will be a service at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

On Easter Sunday, members of the Orthodox faith greet each other with the words "Christos voskres," which mean "Christ is risen." They answer solemnly, "Vostoino voskres," meaning, "Certainly He is risen."

As part of the Easter duty, parishioners will go to the cemetery on the Sunday following Easter to pray over the graves of the deceased.

Woman Is Injured As Car Leaves Road

Mrs. S. Ida Yeager, of Pottstown RD 2, was treated in the Pottstown hospital dispensary for a laceration above the left eye, as the result of an accident on the Harmonville road, North Coventry township, at 2 a. m. yesterday.

Her husband was driving when the steering column snapped. According to North Police Officer Daniel W. Guldin, who investigated the accident, the car plunged through a wire fence, bounced across a field and dropped into a shallow stream.

In spite of this rough journey, Yeager was uninjured. A passing motorist took the woman to the hospital, and the car was pulled from the water later yesterday.

Guldin said that the vehicle was not badly damaged.

Man Found in Alleyway Suffering From Injuries

Gerald Lacy, 33, of 540 Walnut street, was admitted to the Pottstown hospital at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning after he fell or was pushed into an alleyway between two houses on the south side of Beech street, between Warren and Adams streets.

Police found the man lying in the alleyway and summoned an ambulance of the Good Will Fire company.

He was X-rayed at the hospital for possible fractures of the right wrist, right lower forearm and vertebrae. Hospital authorities said his condition was not serious.

2 Workers Hurt In Accident at Firestone Plant

Fritz Janson, 46, of Boyertown RD 1, was in a "satisfactory" condition in the Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia, last night after he was treated for severe injuries suffered while working at the Firestone Tire and Rubber company plant.

Janson, a machinist, was struck by a large piece of metal, on the left side of the head, at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, while at his machine. He was taken to Pottstown hospital and transferred to the Philadelphia institution yesterday afternoon.

Physicians said that Janson had suffered a fracture of the skull and a concussion of the brain.

Another employee, Karl Cressy, of Pottstown RD 1, was struck on the left hip by the same piece of metal, after Janson was injured.

CRESSY REMAINED in Pottstown hospital last night under observation, after X-rays of the hip had been taken.

Clarence E. Heitman, director of personnel at the Firestone factory, said last night that the cause of the accident had not yet been determined.

THE IMMEDIATE crisis appeared past, but the possibility of new disorders was not discounted.

Brig. Gen. C. A. Willoughby, intelligence officer for occupation headquarters, said he regarded the Koreans as definitely dangerous.

Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, U. S. Eighth Army commandant, arranged to fly to Kobe Monday for an inspection.

Willoughby and Col. George A. Jones, U. S. Eighth Army intelligence chiefs, agreed that Communists fomented the rioting.

Jones characterized the trouble as the first "minor emergency" of the occupation.

HE CAUTIONED, however, "let's not get the people back in the United States all excited. We will handle it."

Jones declared the situation was in hand at present and that none of the American troops had been injured.

Vast numbers of Koreans live in Japan, having come to the country during the half century when Korea was a Japanese colony. Always an unstable element, they have been notably unruly since the end of the war.

Many were repatriated to Korea but many chose to stay in Japan, and numbers of the repatriates since have slipped back into the country. Lots of them have been closely to the Communist line.

Japanese police blame them as leaders in the black market but are admittedly unable to cope with them effectively.

The present trouble originated in a Japanese government order that Korean schools in Japan must meet Japanese textbook and language standards and must quit using Japanese public buildings for what amount to private schools.

Only 'Write-In' Vote To Draw Interest in Tomorrow's Election

The attention of the nation will be turned to Pennsylvania for the results of tomorrow's primary election, but a lack of contests and of issues will result in less than half the registered voters turning out, politicians estimated last night.

In Montgomery county, there are only 17 local contests for the minor office of county committeeman.

There are 140,074 registered voters in the county, including 112,708 Republicans, 24,683 Democrats, 2615 nonpartisans, 55 Socialists and 13 Prohibitionists.

A breakdown of Pottstown's figure of 9346 voters shows that 4816 are Republicans, 4144 Democrats, 348 nonpartisans, 21 Socialists and one lonely Prohibitionist.

NATIONAL INTEREST in the primary will result from the unique situation in which preferences for Republican presidential choice must be written on the ballots by the voters.

In 1944, the write-in vote in this State accurately predicted the nomination of New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

This year, supporters of U. S. Sen. Edward Martin are trying to pile up a large write-in vote for their "favorite son" candidate, in hopes that the Pennsylvania delegation to the national Republican convention in Philadelphia will support him on more than the first ballot.

Other Republican hopefuls will include Stassen, Dewey, Taft, MacArthur, Vandenberg, California Gov. Earl Warren and House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr.

On the Democratic side, only the name of President Truman will be offered to the voters by State politicians.

In this county, incumbent Congressman Samuel K. McConnell Jr., an investment banker of Wynwood, is the GOP's candidate. He will seek his third term in the nation's capital.

HARRY H. KELLY, of Ambler, a former weekly newspaper publisher as well as a one-time "Independent Republican," will be the choice of the Democratic state-makers.

In addition to voting for their presidential choice, Pennsylvania's Democrats and Republicans will choose delegates to their respective nominating conventions.

Republicans will choose 73, seven at large and 66 in the 33 Congressional districts, while the Democrats will pick 16 at large with a voting strength of eight and 66 from districts. The same number of delegates also will be chosen.

No opposition has developed to Republican and Democratic choices for the State posts of auditor general and State treasurer.

THE REPUBLICANS have picked State Senator Weldon B. Heyburn of Delaware county, for auditor general, and State Secretary of Welfare Charlie R. Barber for State Treasurer.

The Democratic choices are State Treasurer Ramsey S. Black for Auditor General and State

TO PREVENT ANY possible "leaks," even Burgess William A. Griffith and Police Chief James A. Laughhead were not informed of the actual raiding date until a few days before. And not one of the ten patrolmen who gathered at borough hall before the raid knew where he was going or why.

At 10:43 o'clock Friday night, a Pottstown resident could have walked around and through borough hall without seeing more than one State agent. At 10:45 o'clock, a seven-car caravan of agents was rolling up Penn street, containing 20 agents.

Arnall Appearance Is Set for Tonight

Whose country is this, anyway? Ellis G. Arnall, former governor of Georgia, will give the answer to this challenging question at tonight's meeting of Town Hall at 8:15 o'clock in the auditorium of the Pottstown Senior High school.

In addition to hearing Arnall, each person attending the meeting will receive a free copy of "Secret," a book outlining the development of the atomic bomb. The books were presented to Town Hall by the Chrysler corporation to supplement the talk on atomic energy given the past February by Dr. Hubert N. Aiyer, of Princeton university.

Since tonight's meeting will be the final session of the 1947-48 season, members will vote for new directors at a short business meeting. A membership drive for next year also will be started.

Tickets for the 1948-49 season will be priced at $3.25, an increase of 25 cents to pay the borough amusement tax. Exclusive of taxes, the membership of Town Hall still will pay only $2.50 for outstanding speakers. Arrangements have been made for the purchase of season tickets for next year at the meeting.

Agents' Undercover Work Set Stage for Liquor Raids

As the last of the eight Pottstown residents arrested Friday night on charges of selling liquor without a license posted $1000 bail yesterday morning, State and borough officials revealed the story behind the six simultaneous raids staged by more than 30 law enforcement officers.

Since it is no crime to be caught with State-store liquor or legally-taxed beer in your club or home, the raids themselves had little legal bearing on the case.

It was the undercover work done the past four months by enforcement branch agents of the State Liquor Control board that resulted in the eight suspected liquor sellers being held for Montgomery county court.

But the raids were conducted with all the thoroughness for which the branch is noted. And they were conducted simultaneously to prevent the word of one arrest spreading and one or more suspects disappearing.

Reading company timetables were issued to conform with Summer time, but schedules generally are the same as they were under Eastern Standard Time.

MINISTERS OF Pottstown churches blamed the advent of Daylight Saving Time, at least partially, for slight drops in attendance. Not all churches had below-par attendance, however.

Jewish Underground Forces Open Attack on All-Arab City

TEL AVIV, Palestine, April 25 (AP)—The underground troops of Irgun Zvai Leumi slashed into Jaffa today in a passover Sunday onslaught which some reports said carried them a mile into Arab quarters. The status of the battle was undetermined tonight, however — conflicting reports saying the Jewish drive had been stalled or that it still was progressing.

Soviet Union Ends Boycott Of U. N. Trusteeship Council

LAKE SUCCESS, April 25 (AP)—Soviet Russia ended its boycott of the United Nations Trusteeship council today, apparently to have a full voice in debate on Palestine. In a formal letter to the United Nations, Russia designated Semen K. Tsarapkin, charge d'affaires of the Soviet embassy in Washington, as the Soviet delegate. Tsarapkin was Russia's delegate on the special Palestine committee which worked out the U. N. scheme to partition the Holy Land the past Fall and took a leading part in advocating partition. Russia acted as emergency steps which would make Jerusalem virtually an open city took top priority in the U. N.

RUSSIA REFUSED to take a seat on the Trusteeship council when it first met March 26, 1947, and has consistently boycotted every session since that time. The Russians contended the council was not correctly established. However, the Trusteeship council is slated to bear a major role in the big power maneuvers on the Palestine situation. Observers here felt generally that the Russians were acting to insure a full voice in the council deliberations on the future of Palestine.

As a permanent member of the U. N. Security council, Russia had a seat on the trusteeship council under the U. N. Charter. The trusteeship council is one of the three major councils of the U. N. set-up. The others are the Security council which deals with political affairs, and the Economic and Social council, which deals with the welfare of the world's peoples. The Soviet action finally completes the official make-up of the three councils. The Trusteeship council the past week completed work on a proposed statute for the city of Jerusalem but decided to take an indefinite recess without finally voting on it.

Bogota Parley Okays Social Guarantee for Western Workers

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 25 (AP)—A working committee of the Pan-American conference approved today, with a reservation by the United States, social guarantees to protect the rights of workers in the western hemisphere. The conference, anxious to finish its work this week, held various committee and working group meetings. The organic pact for an inter-American system, which henceforth will be an entity within the framework of the United Nations, has been approved by the second commission of the conference. Other projects are nearing completion. The social guarantees charter will be sent to the steering committee for final approval before inclusion in the overall Bogota pact. It contains a declaration of fundamental principles and minimum guarantees for men and women workers, "without prejudice to the laws of the various states which may amplify these rights or recognize them in a more favorable way."

Senator Warns New Air Bases Are Necessary

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—The United States will want air bases "in Asia, Africa and probably in Europe" if it must face Russia in a future war, Senator Tydings (D-Md.) said today. "It is plain that we could not have bombed Germany from bases located in the United States with the planes we had in World War II," the senator noted, and declared: "We cannot bomb Russian cities in World War III from bases in the United States with the planes now in existence, because Russia is much farther away from the United States than is Germany."

Tydings is a member of the Senate armed services committee. He outlined problems now facing Congress in the multi-billion dollar defense program in a speech at Baltimore. On Capitol Hill, Speaker Martin held out today for a 70-group air force despite signs the Senate might compromise on 66. Secretary of Defense Forrestal has agreed to go along with 66. (A "group" of B29 bombers numbers 27 to 30. A group of fighters contains 75 planes.) But Martin told reporters: "We've got to have a modern 70-group force. The sooner we start toward the goal the better off we'll be and the safer the country will feel."

Jobs in Nation to Reach Record High in 1948

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Jobs in America are expected to reach the highest total in history this Summer, outnumbering the past year's record 60,000,000. Ewan Clague, commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics, said today employment in March was running 1,000,000 higher than in March, 1947. "If, during the coming Spring, the economy merely follows the normal seasonal pattern of increases in construction and agriculture and declines in the textiles and apparel industries," Clague said, "it is obvious that early this Summer employment will reach a new peak exceeding the past year's record of 60,000,000."

Haganah, the regular Jewish militia, belittled the Irgun attack on the all-Arab city of 95,000 and said it was unauthorized. Haganah said the operation attracted more attention in parading and blocking traffic in Allenby road than it did in the streets of Jaffa. Haganah took no part in the attack and said it tried futilely to dissuade Irgun leaders from beginning it. It was reported that about 1000 Jewish fighters took part in the assault, launched from the neighboring all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

Some sources said the forces of Irgun commander Menachem Beigin had encountered British troops, supported by mechanized equipment, and that the Jewish drive stalled. These sources said the British told Haganah to instruct the underground fighters to fall back to the no man's land between Jaffa and Tel Aviv, or that Tel Aviv would be shelled.

HIGH Irgun officers told newsmen, however, that the attack still was continuing early tonight and that all Arab strongpoints in the Manshieh quarter of Jaffa had been captured. Arab defenders fell back into the heart of Jaffa, they said. These officers added that only once had they met British armor and that it was an accidental meeting.

In Tel Aviv, Irgun men in civilian clothes blocked off the entire southern section of the city, controlling all traffic in and out of the fighting zone. It was reported that Irgun went into the attack with at least one medium tank, several armored cars and automatic weapon carriers. It brought up its infantry in a fleet of trucks during pre-dawn darkness. Irgun was said to have presented the Arabs a surrender ultimatum. A late Irgun communique said only: "Operation continuing."

11-Month Extension Predicted for AEC

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Signs of Republican support appeared today for an 11-month extension of the terms of Chairman David E. Lilienthal and four other members of the Atomic Energy commission. Under such an arrangement, if a Republican president took office next year he could decide on longer-term appointments in mid-1949. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) already has publicly announced his determined opposition to giving Lilienthal a new five-year term as asked by President Truman. Two other key Republicans, who would not be quoted by name, told a reporter an 11-month extension for all atomic commissioners might prevent a rough political dispute in this election year. They also said the final decision probably is up to the Senate Republican policy committee, of which Taft is chairman. The original terms of all five members of the commission expire Aug. 1.

To Be Married Today

Actress Lana Turner and millionaire Henry J. (Bob) Topping, shown above, will be married today in Hollywood. It will be the fourth marriage for each.

HOLLYWOOD, April 25 (AP)—Lana Turner and millionaire Henry J. (Bob) Topping will wed tomorrow with glamorous Hollywood trimmings—including six-pound lobsters flown from Boston and carved-ice statues of birds kissing.

Million Persons Attend Rites for Manuel Roxas

MANILA, April 25 (AP)—The Philippines republic buried its first president today in a crush of mourners so great that several scores fainted or were trampled in their efforts to approach the casket of Manuel Roxas. The ceremony will take place about 5 p. m. (Pottstown Time) in the flower-filled Bel-Air living room of William R. (Billy) Wilkerson. He, a film trade-paper publisher, discovered Lana for movies as she was sipping a tall chocolate milk shake at a drive-in sandwich stand 11 years ago.

The screen's most famous sweater girl will carry a bouquet of four large white orchids. In a gown of champagne-hued chantilly lace, she'll descend a curving stairway on Wilkerson's arm while a string orchestra plays the wedding march.

Topping and the preacher will be waiting before an arch-shaped window draped with fern and white stocks. Two silver candelabra will gleam before side windows. The Rev. Stewart P. McLennan, retired pastor of the Hollywood Presbyterian church, will officiate. It will be the fourth marriage for each, if you count separately Lana's two to Stephen Crane, with an annulment in between. Previously she was married to bandleader Artie Shaw.

Tinplate heir Topping was divorced Friday in Bridgeport, Conn., by actress Arline Judge. She charged extreme cruelty and was awarded $100,000 alimony. Lana, 28, and Topping, 34, were reported vacationing at Palm Springs and weren't expected here until shortly before the wedding.

PRESIDENT ROXAS, 56, died April 15 of a heart ailment just after making a strong anti-Communist speech at Clark Field, U. S. air base 50 miles northwest of Manila. His body since had lain in state in Malacanang palace. Today's great state funeral began shortly after dawn.

Reds Trying to Discredit Berlin Air Center, U. S. Says

BERLIN, April 25 (AP)—American officers charged today the Russians are trying to discredit the air safety center here in order to promote a scheme for restricting the western Allies' air corridor to Berlin. The center was established in 1945 to control air traffic. It is manned jointly by the four occupying powers. Gen. Lucius D. Clay and other officials have declared they intend to maintain the air corridor through the Soviet zone. Russian restrictions may force a showdown and bring fighter escorts for transport planes.

A Soviet commission charged the safety center was doing an undisciplined and inadequate job at the time British and Russian planes collided here April 5. Today the Soviet-controlled press charged that Lt. Clyde Tironx of Minneapolis had been dismissed from the center because "he had deliberately delayed forwarding information on American planes entering Berlin." The press said other lax work by Americans endangered air safety.

Tironx said: "This is just another one of the propaganda stories which are an insult to the intelligence. I have not been dismissed and my superior officers will substantiate this. I have requested transfer to Munich but only because I want to move my family out of Berlin."

A SPOKESMAN FOR the U. S. air element said only "the Russians."

Atomic Unit and Navy Back Non-Secret Work

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—The Atomic Energy commission and the Navy got together today on a plan for joint support of a broad program for non-secret scientific research. The commission said it will make available up to $3,000,000 for physical research and $1,000,000 for medical and biological research over a year's time. The physical science projects will include work in nuclear and general physics, chemistry, metallurgy and ceramics, mathematics and geophysics.

Taft to Remain in Home State For Stretch Drive Against Stassen

CLEVELAND, April 25 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft today abandoned plans to return to Washington over the weekend and decided to continue his Ohio "grass roots" campaign against Harold E. Stassen. The Ohio senator, without explanation, announced a hectic "home stretch" itinerary including some 30 speeches in more than 15 Ohio cities before the May 4 state primary.

Stassen, challenging Taft for 23 of the state's 53 Republican presidential delegates, currently plans to remain away from Ohio until his return May 3 for an election eve statewide radio broadcast. Political observers looked for him back before then. Taft wrangled with Stassen on the issues of Communism, the United Nations, public housing and other plans in his Republican program over the weekend.

The OHIOAN, originally scheduled to enchain for Washington and return to Dayton Tuesday, had a brief transcribed interview over a local radio station and two ward meetings on tap here today. He plans to go to Dayton tomorrow night after a "speechless" day in Cleveland. Taking a leaf from Stassen's successful Wisconsin and Nebraska chapters, Taft launches an ambitious stumping of the state at Dayton and Hamilton Tuesday.

Taking advantage of Stassen's absence, Taft will tour Toledo Thursday, appear at Elyria, Oberlin, College, Medina and Akron Friday.

Escapes Death

Mustapha Nahas Pasha (above), wartime Egyptian premier, escaped death yesterday in Cairo when three men blew up a car packed with explosives at his home. Pasha was not hurt but his wife was slightly injured by flying glass.

"Three cheers for new yeast!"

"There's nothing more frustrating to me than discovering I'm 'all out' of yeast just when I'm getting ready to bake. That's why I say 3 long cheers for Fleischmann's new Dry Yeast. It keeps for weeks without refrigeration. You can buy several weeks' supply and when you get the urge to bake up a batch of buns, your yeast is right there on the shelf, full strength, and ready for action. You use exactly like compressed yeast. I package equals one compressed yeast cake in any recipe. Hurry and get Fleischmann's new Dry Yeast today."

Catherine Griesemer Dies at Age of 90

Catherine E. (Schradler) Griesemer, 90, of Fagleyville, died in her home yesterday morning of uremic poisoning. She had been in a coma two days.

The aged widow of John S. Griesemer had been in robust health until five years ago when blindness forced her to be idle.

She lived with her only child, Mrs. Martha E. Pfeiffer, who with her husband, Alex, operates the Fagleyville hotel.

When blindness came upon Mrs. Griesemer she never lost hope that she would see again, although she did give up her ambition to reach

100. Being blind "was too much," she said.

She spent the first 28 years of her long life in Pottsville and married shortly after moving from there to Philadelphia. The little family stayed there more than 30 years before moving to Fagleyville near Mr. Griesemer's native Pottstown.

When her daughter and son-in-law took over the 100-year-old hotel, Mrs. Griesemer pitched in and helped with the cooking, sewing and "anything that needed to be done."

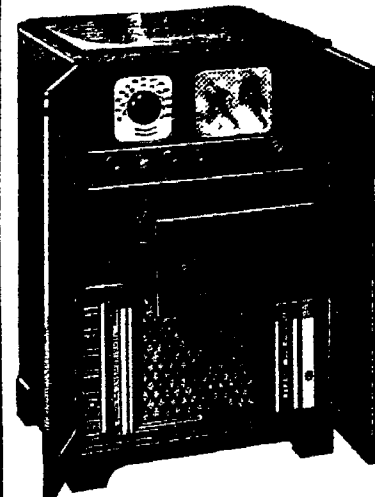

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at the convenience of the family from a funeral home at 112 North Washington street. The Rev. Edgar M. Cooper will officiate. Interment will be in Falkner Swamp cemetery.

How to Fall in Love

in one easy lesson

TAKE a clear day—a Dynaflo* Buick—and a mind open to new experiences.

Turn the key in the lock—press down the gas treadle—and set this mighty Fireball straight-eight purring. Now:

Flick the selector lever till the pointer indicates "D"—that's for driving. Feed a little gas—and see what happens.

Smoothly, you slip away from the curb. Silently you build up momentum. Effortlessly you cruise at whatever pace your treadle toe selects. Look! you say. A stop light! What do I do?

Nothing special. Let up on the gas. Apply the foot brake as you need it. That all? Won't the engine stall? Don't I shift?

That's all. Your engine won't stall. You don't shift. Just sit there till the coast is clear. Then step on it. Step hard and you're off like a rabbit. Step lightly, and you ease smoothly away.

What's happening? you want to know. What's doing the shifting? Some mechanical hand under the floor boards?

Not in this car, sir. Oil does it all—spinning oil. Oil whirling to give you starting surge—power build-up—efficient cruising—engine braking effect on hills.

Oil that does everything the usual low, second and high gears do—without any gearshifting on your part—and without the slightest break in your stride except when you want it.

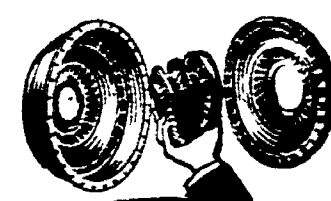

Say no more! I'm sold! Where do I sign up?

There's only one place. Only Buick has Dynaflo Drive, and no other American car has anything like it. With or without a car to trade, better see your Buick dealer first minute you can.

What's Different About DYNAFLO DRIVE*?

To an efficient new pump (left below), Buick engineers have added a true turbine (right) and an ingenious new supercharging assembly (in hand) which produce a torque-boosting action on starting and accelerating. The result is the first device on any American passenger car which employs liquid to fill the function of both the clutch and the usual low, second and high gears. The clutch pedal is inoperative and a simple control gives you manual selection of power ranges and direction.

*Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster models only.

Letters must not be more than 250 words long, of current topics and must not involve personalities. Discrimination Charged
To the Editor: In regards to the letter of April 23, ("Shanta Decision Fair") I would like to ask the writer whether he knows what justice is? If he calls this decision an act of justice, then I'd like to know what is justice.
If Shanta's suspension is upheld, then I say suspend Sgt. Linton for failure to stop and render assistance. It certainly is a shame for a Sergeant to cast discriminating statements against another patrolman. Is that what 27 years of service taught you?
It certainly is a joke to gripe about Shanta talking with two men. After all, I am sure that is why Mike went into the Army, to preserve "freedom of speech."
I said sometime ago, and I say it again, the Civil Service commission is a figurehead. If the commission wants to deal justly, let's not always stick with bourgeois authorities. Let's judge and do so with a clear conscience.
If justice cannot be dealt wisely I would suggest you members of the commission resign and get someone in there who knows justice and deals accordingly.

Protect School Children First
To the Editor: Yesterday there was an accident at the Congo school. A boy on a bicycle and a truck were involved. Luckily the truck was not going fast. The boy was not hurt; only the bicycle was damaged. If Congo school had a safety patrol, this and other accidents in the future could be avoided.
Why doesn't Congo have a safety patrol? The safety of school children should come first. Give the children protection before someone is hurt seriously, not after they are hurt or killed. Then it is too late.

Veteran's Views on Red Cross
To the Editor: I noticed an article on the woman's page of The Mercury where the local Red Cross is planning a big party for the veterans at Valley Forge hospital.
I think the boys at Valley Forge are deserving of all of it. But a few of us Pottstown area veterans can rightly wonder what happened to these fair-weathered women when the boys overseas needed some help a few years ago. How much help did the average local soldier or sailor receive from his home Red Cross chapter? Little, if any.

WASHINGTON
Vandenberg as Candidate Is Becoming Less Likely

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, April 25 — Although Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg is now regarded as the Republicans' strongest and most likely presidential candidate, the president pro tem of the Senate has just about convinced close friends and party bigwigs that he does not want the honor any more than Gen. "Ike" Eisenhower does.
In view of this lack of receptivity in what-looks like a "Republican year" for the first time, it becomes doubtful whether he will be willing to lead the opposition forces against President Truman. Unless they mean it, few men shy away from an almost certain offer of free rent of the White House for at least four years.
The significant factor in these new renunciations is that they have been uttered in the very period when the Vandenberg star has been ascending in the political sky. The Stassen victories in the Michigan and Nebraska primaries indicate that Midwest voters would not take it out on Mr. Vandenberg because of his earnest support and formulation of Truman-Marshall foreign policies.
Disliking Mr. Stassen, the "regulars" have begun to look upon the man from Michigan as one who can halt the Viking invader at Philadelphia, if a Taft-Dewey coalition fails to check the Minnesotan. In short, his prestige was never higher inside and outside the Senate.
TACTICAL: A Vandenberg withdrawal, if he can make it stick, may easily mean a slight tactical gain for Mr. Stassen, even in the face of old-line bosses' hostility to his personality and methods. It would leave the former naval captain as almost the only prominent Republican who represents the influential internationalist faction of the GOP.
Moreover, there would be no chance for Mr. Stassen even for second place with the Senate foreign relations chairman at the top of the ticket. Nor would the objection be the geographical unbalance of such a slate.
Opposition to a Vandenberg-Stassen combination would derive from the former's age and slight heart condition. With F.D.R.'s unexpected death in mind, the boys in the back room would think twice before placing the Minnesotan in a spot where he might enter the White House through the back door.
As an active candidate at Philadelphia, Mr. Vandenberg would be more likely to throw his delegates to a compromise, middle-of-the-road figure than to the man from a neighboring state. Despite their accord on foreign problems, there is no love lost between the Vandenberg and Stassen factions.

Hollywood
By EDITH GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD, April 25 — Lloyd Nolan, who reached star status in the recently completed "Street With No Name" at 20th-Fox decided to go it alone and got his release from that studio.
Now his first assignment as a free-lance player, is the lead he's just been handed opposite Jeanette MacDonald in "Sun in the Morning"—her next at M. G. M. So far, Nelson Eddy is nowhere in sight for the cast.
There will only be a dozen people at the Lana Turner-Bob Topping wedding tomorrow but there'll be a big reception afterwards at the home of W. R. Wilkerson, who happens to be our expatriate. Yep, we're invited. Lana, her groom and the T. T. and T. (the Turner Torso and Trouseau) sail for Europe on May 5th.
Earl Wilson now refers to Arline Judge as "Divorce of Experience".... Col. Robert Scott, who authored "God is My Co-Pilot" jet-planned into Hollywood the other day for a visit.
LIFE INSURANCE sales are down for the first time in years, says someone who bothers to find out about things like that.... Murray Weinger is getting congrats from Hollywood Pals on becoming sole owner of Miami's Copacabana. He'll be in Hollywood in a couple weeks to sign a few movie names for safe stints for next season.... Vogue magazine wanted to do a six page layout featuring Jane Greer in various maternity outfits, prior to the birth of her baby in June—but the studio nixed the idea as not in keeping with the super glamour buildup they're planning for her.
TWO NIGHTS ago Bob Hope and his troupe, plus Tony Martin were in Phoenix, Ariz., where they raised over $50,000 for the Cancer Fund. Crowd wouldn't let Tony stop singing.... and he almost missed his plane back here.... Bob Crosby is quarantined from his home. Three of his four kids are down with the measles.... and they're something he's never had. The measles, we mean.... When Dan Daly got his thirty day Army induction notice a few years ago, he was very short of money and asked his agent to see what he could do in the little time left for hush "cash in." The agent came through with two "quickie" pictures.... "Give Out Sisters" and "Timber".... and they netted Dan $16,000 which was enough to take care of his wife during the almost five years he spent in uniform.
WHICH FOR absolutely no reason reminds us that Shiny Wright defines a pseudo-intellectual as "A person who sneers at a Bob Hope joke, but who rolls on the floor with laughter if the same joke is credited to Oscar Wilde." Jennifer Holt and William Bakewell, after two years of marriage, are calling it a day. Cause: He has been a golf-widower!.... That documentary "made with the co-operation of the U. of Oregon" on sex-education which actor Eddie Albert did and which is now being shown in Oregon schools, kicked up a heated nationwide debate, and will get a picture layout in Life. "Is he trying to be junior Dr. Kinsey?"

GLANCE AT MAGAZINES
IT SAYS HERE — Girls who have doubts about wedding a widower can forget all about them. There are distinct advantages in such marriages.
A man who has made one wife happy is often a much better bet than one who is unmarried, according to the May "Journal of Living." He has already been through the marital training period, which in many cases include a handy knowledge of putting away his own things, dusting and even cooking.
A widower can generally be expected to be more co-operative and understanding than a bachelor. He's already learned to adjust his personality to another's. In addition, he is usually more grateful to and appreciative of his second wife than a bachelor could ever be of his first.
So don't discriminate against a man simply because he's a widower. It's a good idea to make sure that a husband has plenty of the more stable qualities which make a marriage successful. And apparently most widowers have them!

FOUR STEPS TO EDUCATION — A good educator once said that education, whether the formal kind in college, or by general reading, consists of four main steps:
1. Hunting—trying to find whatever it is you think you're going to need.
2. Recognition — knowing what you're after when you see it.
3. Valuation—knowing the relative worth of material you gather.
4. Using—knowing what to do with your material after you get it.
—Oscar Allison in "Your Life."

YOUR HEALTH
By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

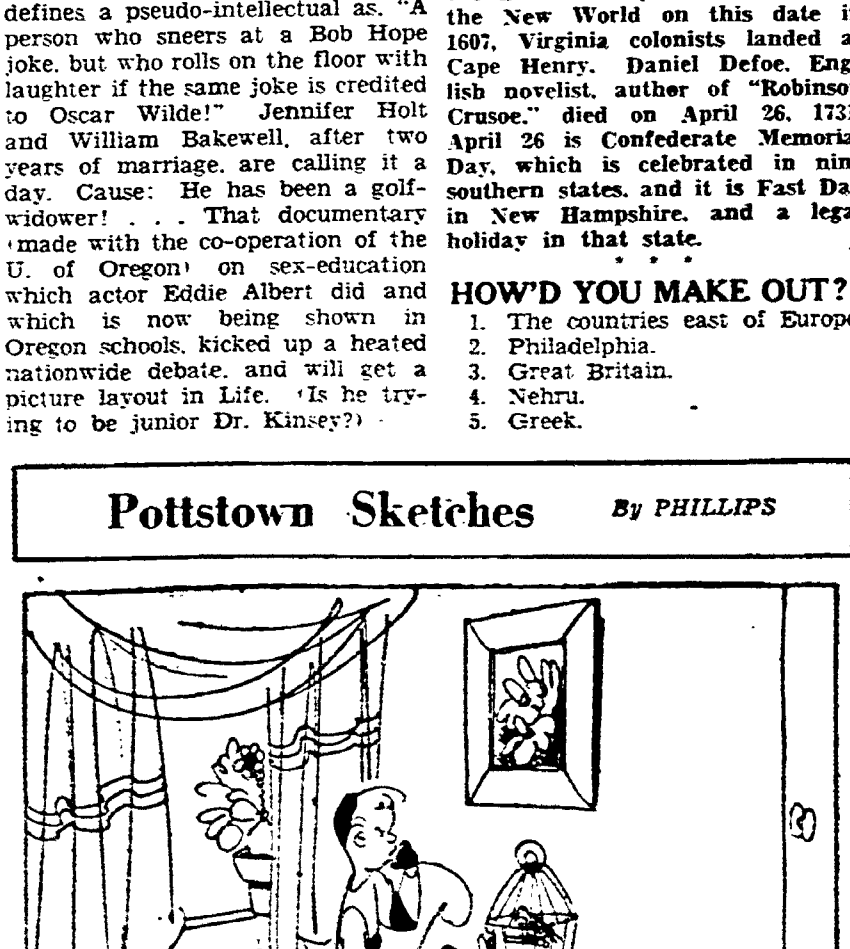

EVEN AS recently as 10 years ago, cancer of the lung was considered rare. Today, it is second in frequency only to cancer of the stomach and intestinal tract.
This may not mean an actual increase but only that greater alertness and better diagnostic methods are bringing more of these growths to light. On the other hand there is evidence that this form of cancer is on the upsurge, due, in the opinion of some experts, to many irritants, such as smoke and chemicals in the air of our large cities and factory centers. In any case, cancer of the lung is today an outstanding problem since it is estimated that of the half-million cancer victims in the United States, more than 13,000 suffer from cancer of the lung.
Strangely enough, this form of cancer attacks men far more often than women. In fact, 70 to 96 percent of those known to have it are males. Just why men should have a greater weakness in this way is not known and probably will not be known until the cause of cancer in general is discovered. Chronic or repeated irritation is suspected as being an important contributing cause, and smoking is thought to play a chief role in producing this irritation. Definite evidence along this line, however, is lacking.
The most common early symptom of lung cancer is a dry cough. Later on, during the coughing attacks, a great deal of secretion may be brought up from the lungs. The sputum often may have streaks of blood in it, and a massive hemorrhage may occur at any time during the course of the disorder.
Wheezing may indicate that the tumor has blocked one of the bronchi or tubes of the lung. If there is pain in the chest, it may mean there is some involvement of the pleura or lining membrane over the lungs. Late in the condition, there may be fever, loss of weight and strength, hoarseness, and shortness of breath.
The signs of the tumor growth vary depending upon its size and location, but there are often abnormal signs, called rales, present during breathing.
When patients more than forty years of age complain of unexplained cough lasting over a month, the possibility of cancer of the lung should be kept in mind. A sudden onset of shortness of breath, without heart disease, also should make one suspect lung cancer.
In making a definite diagnosis X-ray examination is important. However, such examination will only show that some abnormal condition is present and will not definitely identify it as a cancer of the lung. However, X-ray examination, together with the symptoms, should make an accurate diagnosis possible.

The Worry Clinic
By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

ARISTOTLE, aged possibly 57, was our first outstanding psychologist.
"Prof. Aristotle, what's wrong with our society today?" one of his pupils inquired, about the year 327 B. C.
"Well," said Aristotle, "we have three classes of citizens here in Athens.
"First, there is the 'belly' class, chiefly interested in stuffing its gut. It is typified by the 'eat, drink and be merry' folks who live as slaves to their appetites.
"Secondly, we have the 'heart' type of person. He is the rah-rah-rah boy who protests undying devotion to the flag, and then fails to exercise the right to vote, a priceless heritage bought with the blood of liberty-loving martyrs.
"Under wise leadership, he may help vote into the Constitution a sound amendment like woman suffrage, but under the leadership of demagogues, he'd quickly vote away his freedom, or join a lynch party and burn all the scientific books of a hated race.
"Finally, we have the 'head' variety of citizen. He at least has the possibility of directing his behavior by his brain, even though he is also subject to his appetites and his emotions.
"In this 'head' type of citizen, resides the hope of society. For if he holds aloft those moral and political principles which guarantee liberty and sobriety, then the race marches on to higher stages of civilization."

ARISTOTLE'S three-fold classification of human beings is still true of our current society.
Unfortunately, too, the "belly" class is breeding like guinea pigs, averaging 5 to 10 children per couple, while the "head" class averages less than 2 children per couple.
When the Indians sold the site of New York City for a few quarts of fire-water and some 10-cent beads, they demonstrated more stupidity than current "belly" Americans who frequently sell their ballot for a 12-ounce stein of beer.
Thousands of Chicago voters, for example, cast their ballot for any candidate who will give them two steins of beer in contrast to one, or a 50-cent piece instead of two bits. This statement is literally true.
Greece and Rome collapsed because the "belly" element came into power. Politicians began to pander to them and bid for their votes.
The idealists, those who had fought for freedom and such other social products of the brain, had earlier created Greece and Rome. But the gluttons ruined both nations.
When Caesar bought votes with bushels of wheat and filled the calendar with holidays, Rome was on the skids. We are witnessing the premonitions of what may happen to the United States.
There was a time in this country when its citizens were idealists. They underwent privation for such privileges as the rule of religious freedom and the right to work.
Today in America we are spending far more money annually to fill bellies with liquor than to fill the brains of our school children with educational concepts and moral principles.
It's high time we again began to accustom the positive and glorify our good.

Dear Sir n' Brother:
Wal, I see by the papers where a California auto caught fire in a garage, the flames short-circuited the starter causing the car to back out of the garage, then short-circuited the horn, causing it to blow and awaken the owner. These new models are wonderful. Now they have them with built-in instincts of self-preservation.
In Illinois a man owned a goldfish for 30 years. By now, the critter ought to have earned some share of privacy.

Steel Workers Pick Four Delegates to Boston Convention

Four delegates and two alternates to the Boston, Mass., convention of the United Steel Workers of America (CIO), to be held May 11-15, were chosen at a meeting of Local 2177 in CIO hall yesterday.

J. Alfred Marquet, president; James Dilliplaine, vice president; Charles Hartman, inequity committee chairman, and John W. Sperow, financial secretary, were chosen delegates.

Th alternates will include Paul Mohler, shop steward, and Benjamin Wade, recording secretary.

Union members approved four resolutions to be presented to the international's resolutions before the convention opens.

THEY INCLUDE a recommendation that any known Communist be kept from membership in the Steel Workers and be expelled if they already are members.

In addition, Local 2177 will recommend that monthly dues in the local be increased from $1.50 to $2, with half that amount going to the international, that the number of delegates to Steelworkers conventions be reduced by one-half and that the district directorship be maintained at two years.

Fred Clarici, newly-appointed international representative in the Pottstown district, was introduced officially to the union members yesterday. In a brief talk, he promised his best efforts in the job.

Marquet reported that wage negotiations with the Pottstown plant of the Bethlehem Steel corporation would be completed within a few days.

BECAUSE THE places to be raided were run by and patronized by Negroes, the agents who did the visiting were Negroes. The agents are well educated.

Their procedure the past four months at the six suspected "State store speakasies" was standard. They would put on old clothes, drop their college accent and place several small bottles in their pockets. It was their job to prove that the unlicensed places sold liquor.

To make their case airtight, the agents made sure the proprietors sold it to them, not only to other patrons, they testified at the hearings. Because they wanted evidence that the place habitually sold liquor, the agents made at least two and, in some cases, four visits.

And to avoid suspicion, the agents became hearty drinkers not averse to buying a round for the boys. They paid their bills with soiled, greasy dollars.

AS THEY BECAME friendly with the proprietor, they made use of their small bottles, transferring samples of liquor to them with a slight-of-hand technique requiring months of practice.

It was not until these incriminating bottles and the agents' sworn statements were in the control board's Philadelphia office, that the word was passed to local police that

The enforcement branch invites local police to a raid to permit the nabbing of miscellaneous offenders such as the two pistol toters and the 16 suspected gamblers found in the Elite Social club, 722 Beech street.

A Federal agent also is invited, in case some untaxed liquor or plain, ordinary "moonshine" is discovered. The Federal agent found so such liquor Friday night.

STATE OFFICIALS said the prime purpose of the raid is not to punish offenders but to warn them and others that just because liquor is tax stamped is no excuse for trying to sell it without a license.

The violation is a misdemeanor which carries a maximum fine of $300 or three-months imprisonment for first offense.

The last time the enforcement agents swept through Pottstown was two years ago.

Mild, Damp Weekend Registers High of 72

It was a hard weekend for people who sleep near open windows.

Early Saturday morning they had a cheerless and damp reveille what with the intermittent showers that fell. Then they hardly had the mattress dried before they were awakened early yesterday morning by the same periodic precipitation, only stronger.

The weekend was mild, though, with a high temperature of 72, recorded yesterday afternoon under the sun's only appearance in two days, and a low of 47 Saturday morning.

The weatherman looks for partly cloudy and cooler today and partly cloudy and warmer tomorrow.

The policemen left to answer three calls on boys' mischief, after foot patrolman had been alerted for Diffenderfer. As more telephone calls poured into the police station from bewildered pedestrians on Charlotte, High and North Hanover streets, the two policemen drove past the firehouse, just in time to see Diffenderfer roll up. He had forgotten his wife.

The officers removed Diffenderfer from the car, but left the big dog in the back seat strictly alone. Although the dog had a "worried look," he also had a "head nearly as big as a lion's," Borgiet declared.

Police Chief Urges Second Spotlight For Intersection

Boyerstown police expressed satisfaction with the spotlight, on loan from the Friendship Hook and Ladder company, which was placed at the intersection of East Philadelphia avenue and Washington street to illuminate the dangerous crossing.

The powerful light, together with a white circle painted in the center of the intersection, was used for the first time the past Saturday night. Henry E. Groff, chief of police, expressed satisfaction with the improvements, made at the recommendation of the police department the past Friday night.

Groff observed a fellow-officer, Grant M. Groff, direct traffic from the brightly-lighted neutral circle in the center of the intersection Saturday night. After a careful and studied observation, the local police chief suggested that a second spotlight, which could be placed diagonally across the street above Boyerstown, be installed so that the officer on duty would be illuminated both in front and behind. This, Groff pointed out, would eliminate a "dark side," which exists with one spot only, as well as the shadow cast by the patrolman on duty.

MEANWHILE, William H. S. Moyer, special patrolman who was struck and seriously injured by an automobile at the intersection the past April 17, while he was on duty, left Reading hospital and returned to his home at 22 East Fourth street yesterday afternoon. He will remain in bed at home, however, it was reported.

Groff, who directed traffic at the intersection the past Saturday, wore both a white cape and white gloves. The white circle in which he stood was painted midnight Friday by Robert C. Stauffer, a member of borough council and chairman of its police committee. The light remained in operation from darkness until 9:45 p. m., the period of heaviest traffic at the corner.

Stassen. "I'd give Stassen a chance," she asserted. "He's youthful and should have a lot of new ideas. I think he'll be competent if he gets in."

CHARLES A. LAMBOUR, Pottstown RD 1, gave Stassen the nod after Eisenhower.

"I prefer Eisenhower," he remarked, "but if he doesn't run, I'll vote for Stassen. I believe he's suitable for the job."

Another Eisenhower adherent, Irvin Markowitz, 537 Beech street, said he'd vote for the general if he was running. If he had to choose between Stassen as opposed to Truman, he would choose Stassen, he added.

"I don't particularly like the policies of the Republican party," Markowitz continued. "It stands too much for capital. While I am not a strong union man, I feel the Republican party is heavily over-balanced to the side of management."

WILLIAM E. TATTERS, 114 South Hanover street, leaned toward Dewey.

"I always admired him after he broke up the racket," he declared, "and I feel he has shown he is a good administrator. He can't be pushed around very easily."

Mrs. Harry Daylor, 1150 High street, would vote for Truman.

"I feel he is the best man," she explained. "I always try to pick the best man for any job rather than vote a straight party ticket."

STANLEY GLANSKI, Pottstown RD 1, when asked his preference, remarked briefly:

"MacArthur. I think if he can rule the Japs, he can rule this country. He's doing a good job over there and he might be able to straighten us out here."

Leo L. Lawler, 403 Walnut street, cast the lone vote for Marshall.

"The only man capable of handling the job would be Marshall, if he was up for election," he said succinctly.

pastor of the Transfiguration Lutheran church, noticed that Sunday school classrooms were slightly less full, but that his church attendance was good.

"Maybe some of those who thought they were coming to Sunday school found that they were just in time to go to church," the Rev. Fischer mused.

The Rev. A. Burtis Hallock Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, blamed the beginning of Summer time partially for the falling off of the number of churchgoers, but added, "I'm afraid it was kind of a sleepy day, too."

Although the annual clock-adjusting problem caused some empty pews in local churches, there was no lateness. Clergymen figured that either everybody got up in time, or never got up at all.

Duff Cites State's Record In Industrial Expansion

HARRISBURG, April 25 (AP)—If someone should tell you Pennsylvania is a has-been in the world of industry, you can take the word of Gov. James H. Duff that it isn't so.

An arsenal of democracy in World War II, the Keystone State now is enjoying its greatest industrial expansion in peacetime history — two billion dollars worth in three years.

"No other State has reported anything comparable to it," Duff said of the imposing figures revealed by a six-month survey conducted by the State commerce department.

The survey shows expansions and modernizations of 141 separate plants are providing an estimated 300,000 new jobs. They covered actual construction in 1946 and 1947 and what is planned for this year.

Feed Quality Is One Of Big Factors In Raising Baby Chicks

Quality of birds is one. Quality of feeds is another. And able management is the third.

Poultry profits depend on those three major factors, it is pointed out at the Pottstown Roller Mills, South and Hanover street, where Bull Brand and Red Comb poultry feeds are sold.

"The baby chicks you buy should come from a flock with a definite and known record for high vitality and high production. In order to produce large eggs of high quality—on a high production basis—to enjoy high vitality and livability, feather rapidly and obtain maximum sustenance from feeds — these abilities first must be inherited by the chicks you buy."

"The finest feeds and the most capable management cannot overcome the handicap of inferior chicks. Just as it pays you to get the best feeds to be had, so will it pay you to buy the highest grade chicks you can obtain."

You secure two important benefits when you buy B-B feeds sold by the Pottstown Roller Mills. You get all the benefits of scientifically balanced rations which the science of nutrition has discovered to date about poultry. You get the benefits of Maritime Research Farm for Poultry, where experiments are conducted, under the same conditions as any well managed poultry farm is operated.

These money-making advantages help to assure you of extra profits from poultry, and on a substantial scale, too. They explain why B-B feeds are used by men who raise poultry as a livelihood and by farm women who raise poultry for "pin money."

Use these better feeds now.

Amoco Service Station Gives Good Service, Not to Mention Many Free Accommodations

There are countless free services a good service station gives its patrons that are sometimes worthy of noting — because we forget what we get "for free!"

Cleaning your windshield . . . properly inflating your tires to the correct pressure . . . adding distilled water to your battery . . . free and sanitary restrooms . . . these are services you fail to think about but that are given you absolutely without cost.

Yes, your service station man — if he runs his place properly — does a lot to keep that car of yours, and you, contented!

Now is a good time not to forget about him and your car. For at this season of the year you should have the oil drained and new warm-weather oil put in the crankcase. The car should be thoroughly lubricated with new oils and greases suitable for this Spring weather. The radiator should be flushed of anti-freeze.

If you've a tire that needs repairing, or a radiator that should be drained out and refilled, or a burned out headlight bulb that you want replaced, pull into this station at once. These services are important all the time for safer and better motoring.

The Amoco Service station, 54 High street, is a mecca for many motorists in Pottstown who realize the fine service they get, plus premium products.

Now is the time to drive there for a Spring changeover on oil and greases.

Purchase Of Deepfreeze Aids Better Living

Certainly everyone enjoys better living and you'll get it in the Deepfreeze, sold by the C. J. Keiser Company, 22-24 North Washington street, home of better appliances and home utilities.

It's the talked - about home freezer you'll want to inspect at first hand and now's your opportunity.

Preservation of foods by freezing is the easiest and most satisfactory method.

Scientists report freezing to be the safest method since low temperatures kill or retard the growth of harmful organisms which, if allowed to grow in the food, might cause spoilage and food poisoning. Freezing assures greater retention of food value than any other method of food preservation. There is no loss of vitamin or food value through freezing.

The flavor, color and texture of frozen foods is superior to foods preserved by any other manner.

With a Deepfreeze in your home you have ready to serve at all times, a greater variety, large quantity, a better quality of foods—all at lower cost.

Drop in at the C. J. Keiser's business address and look it over, as well as washers, refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, radios and many other needed appliances for the home.

Modern Machines Ease Farmer's Heavy Labors

New and better machines are the key to more abundant living. One man and a machine can do the work that formerly took an entire crew of men.

And that is why the farmer today is modernizing his acres with new tractors, harvesters and other equipment, it is pointed out by H. T. Buckwalter, who offers sales and service on farm machinery and has the Minneapolis-Moline line.

It is our heritage as a progressive people which insures that which is most important to all men, a future that is secure. You can help secure yours with "MM" visionized tractors and "MM" modern farm machinery from Buckwalter's.

Of course it is hard to get all the new equipment you want but Mr. Buckwalter, whose place of business is Route 100, three miles south of Pottstown, will make every effort and will keep your name on the list when the piece of machinery you want shows up. Rest assured you'll be treated fairly and squarely by this firm.

Meanwhile, if your old tractor or equipment needs repairing, Buckwalter's will take care of it for you.

Advice to the Lovelorn This Marriage Sounds Reckless

THERE is an old saying that it is better to be safe than sorry. Whether that always holds true or not might be open to question, since it is perfectly possible for a woman to gamble on a husband and lose, and still be glad that she did it.

This usually happens, however, only when she has been wise enough to count the cost of a losing gamble beforehand, and be prepared to meet it. The really sorry ones are those so reckless that they rush headlong into a marriage that looks doubtful without stopping first to balance their possible winnings against their equally possible losses.

It looks to me as though one of my correspondents who is contemplating what might well turn out to be an unfortunate marriage might be one of the reckless ones.

She says that she is 20 years old and in love with a man of 35. Through a previous marriage at the age of 18 she has a one-year old child and is expecting a second child in a few months. Two months ago her husband died, apparently leaving her penniless.

"This man I am now in love with," she says, "spent five years in prison on a charge of which he has been proved innocent. Because of this he has been unable to find work. Few people approve of our marriage because of the name it would give the children."

"Under all these complications, do you think it right for us to marry?"

IT SEEMS to me that the word "right" is not the one to use in considering this possible marriage. Instead of "right" I think she might well substitute the word "wise," for there is certainly no more issue involved in the matter which would make it right or wrong for her to become the wife of this man. On the other hand, there seem to be very definite things to be considered before a decision could be made as to whether she would be wise or foolish to do so.

In the first place, has it been definitely proved that the man in question was innocent of the charge which sent him to prison for five years? This, I would think, should be something she should be very sure of before taking him on as a husband.

In the second place, has she known him long enough to be thoroughly familiar with his character and personality? If she was in love with the husband who died only two months ago, it seems a dangerously short time to have elapsed before deciding so important a thing as a second marriage.

In the third place, there is the very important question of who is going to support the family. If she were to marry this man before he finds work, she and her children might very soon be in a serious predicament, unless she is prepared to go out to work herself and earn the money to take care of them all.

For all these reasons this marriage strikes me as a very dubious one. I certainly think this woman would make a grave mistake if she took such a step without very long and careful thinking and planning.

Cooper's Homer in 10th Wins Opener, 6-2; Jones Blanks Tribe in 2d, 6-0

BOSTON, April 25 (AP) — Newcomer Sheldon Jones pitched a two-hit 6-0 triumph for the Giants today as the New Yorkers took both ends of a doubleheader from the Boston Braves. A paid audience of 35,954 also saw the Tribe beaten 6-2 in ten innings in the opener. The Braves, whose record now is one victory against six losses, have yet to win at home.

The Giants rode to triumph in the first game on Walker Cooper's 10th inning home run which drove in three mates ahead of him.

After a rocky start in the nightcap in which he walked the first two batters and hit another. Jones retired the next eleven Bostonians in succession before issuing one of four bases on balls.

GIANTS SWEEP DOUBLEHEADER FROM BRAVES

BOSTON, April 25 (AP) — Newcomer Sheldon Jones pitched a two-hit 6-0 triumph for the Giants today as the New Yorkers took both ends of a doubleheader from the Boston Braves. A paid audience of 35,954 also saw the Tribe beaten 6-2 in ten innings in the opener. The Braves, whose record now is one victory against six losses, have yet to win at home.

The Giants rode to triumph in the first game on Walker Cooper's 10th inning home run which drove in three mates ahead of him.

After a rocky start in the nightcap in which he walked the first two batters and hit another. Jones retired the next eleven Bostonians in succession before issuing one of four bases on balls.

INDIANS DOWN DETROIT BY 7-4, STAY UNBEATEN

Keltner Pounds Two Home Runs; Newhouse Charged With Defeat

DETROIT, April 25 (AP) — Unloading a home run barrage again led by third baseman Ken Keltner, who drove in four runs on two straight homers off Hal Newhouse, the Cleveland Indians jolted the Detroit Tigers, 7 to 4, today to stay unbeaten atop the American League.

First baseman Eddie Robinson also homered and catcher Jim Regan knocked in two runs with a triple as the rampaging Tribe climaxed a sweep of the three-game series here with a ten-hit assault good for 22 bases. Newhouse, who lasted six innings, yielded all but one of the Indian runs and was charged with his first defeat of the year.

The victory was Cleveland's fourth straight and came before 48,880 fans, Detroit's third over 40,000 in as many days. Altogether 135,768 fans saw the opening series of the year in Detroit.

PRINCETON NINE WHIPS THE HILL BY 7-1 SCORE

Lou Gelwick's Hurl Two-Hitter Against Former Teammates

Lou Gelwick returned to The Hill campus Saturday afternoon to pitch a two-hitter against his former teammates, leading the Princeton university freshmen to a 7-1 victory.

The former Hill twirler allowed only two hits during the nine inning tussle. He gave up a double to Walt Bingham in the first inning and a single to Jack Knudsen in the seventh.

Bingham's double figured in scoring The Hill's only run. The Hill outfielder hit Gelwick's first pitch of the game for a two-bagger and advanced to third when Dix Lockwood grounded out. Gelwick threw three balls to Saunders and then let loose with a wild pitch that allowed Bingham to score.

HE WAS NEVER IN TROUBLE THEREAFTER.

He didn't allow a single base on balls the rest of the way and registered nine strike-outs.

Knudsen started on the mound for The Hill but was taken out in favor of Houston Hale in the seventh inning. Knudsen was tagged for four of the Princeton runs and was charged with the defeat.

Sparks Fly as Car Hits Service Pole; Autoists Unhurt

The sparks flew following a motor accident on North Main street, near the Bridge street intersection Spring City, shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning.

The sparks came from a 4400-volt electric wire which dropped to the highway when a service pole was hit by an automobile. Fortunately, the wire did not strike the car, dropping in front of and in back of the car which prevented a fire and saved three occupants of the car from being burned or shocked.

According to police, the machine, traveling north on North Main street, hit a pole in front of the Century-Beverly plant. The impact jolted a cross-arm from its moorings and the wires came to earth with a sparking effect. No pedestrians were near at the time.

Officer Arthur Setzler, who was on duty, was aided by Police Chief John Hanbury in investigating the accident. They placed flares across the street to halt traffic, until Philadelphia Electric company repairmen arrived and cut the wires.

The machine was driven by Herman Walters, Parkerford, who was ordered to appear for a hearing on charges of driving too fast for conditions. Police said the driver explained the machine skidded and hit the pole. The other occupants were Kenneth Francis, 340 Washington street, Spring City, and Robert Thompson, 717 Washington street, Royersford.
